

DON'T LET THE WINTER BLUES GET YOU DOWN!

BY LISA BLAND-SELIX, EDITOR

The holidays are over. Most of us are glad and looking forward to warmer temperatures and springtime. But what about the winter blues that creep in? Especially lately, we have had a couple of bouts with winter weather forcing us inside. That gloomy feeling actually has a name, SAD, or Seasonal Affective Disorder. The disorder, a form of depression, usually begins in late fall or early winter and will fade as the weather improves.

According to Brigitt Hauck, with Real Simple.com these steps can help minimize the winter doldrums:

1. Brighten your environment. Open curtains and blinds, have tree branches trimmed or sit closer to windows to get an extra dose of sunshine. Even artificial light can be beneficial.
2. Make smart food choices. Foods like chocolate can help enhance your mood and relieve anxiety. Although regular candy and carbohydrates might provide temporary good feelings, they can increase depression and anxiety.
3. Exercise! Walking fast for 35 minutes a day five times per week or 60 minutes a day three times per week improved symptoms of mild to moderate depression according to a 2005 Harvard University study. Exercising under bright lights also improved general mental health, social functioning, and depressive symptoms as well. Walk in Oakwood Mall or join one of our Senior Life exercise classes!
4. Listen to some tunes for your mood tune-up. A University of Missouri study found that when people listen to happy, cheery music that it improves their mood short term and happiness overall over a two-week period.
5. Plan a getaway! A Dutch study showed that just planning a trip caused people to be happier—the anticipation of getting away caused more happiness than the actual trip. Looking forward to the event also helps those winter blues.
6. Volunteering and helping others is always a great way to ease the winter doldrums. Working at the soup kitchen or local shelter can put things into perspective and improve your outlook.
7. Get outside for a little fresh air! It's good for the soul and can improve focus, lower stress and help reduce SAD symptoms.

This too will pass, as they say-- but these are steps you can take to ensure the winter blues don't get you down.
